What was needed to work out that end was an intermediary, trusted alike by Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Chamberlain. Heaven, occasionally timeously bountiful in its gifts, provided Mr. Labouchere. I am fortunate in having been made the custodian of a vivid personal narrative of the events immediately preceding the motion for the second reading of the Home Rule Bill, written by the practised hand that up to a critical stage seemed to control them. Considerably within the limit of time mentioned, there was brought about a severance of the intimate relations formerly existing between two ultra-Radicals, which explains, and may serve to modify the effect of, any bitterness in the writer s references to his old familiar friend. Dating from Old Palace Yard, April 5, 1808, Mr. Labouchere writes: Dear Lucy.--This is for you when a hundred years hence you publish memoirs of...
